Derogations

Attestation as Special Constable is a requirement for level 5 study. Accordingly this module (which successfully concludes with Attestation) cannot be trailed into level 5 and so a student who fails to pass the module at the first attempt has only one further attempt to retrieve the mark.

Here, it is worth noting that North Wales Police staff are of the view that given the level of support available to students who do not pass at the first attempt, and the continuous nature of re-assessment, someone failing at the second assessment point would be unlikely to pass a third.

Assessment:

Successful assessment against the Special Constable Police Action Checklist
