Module aims

1. To introduce students to key social policies and the political/theoretical values and assumptions on which they are based.
2. To provide students with a range of policy-focused frameworks that will enable the application of knowledge and understanding to a range of practice scenarios and case studies.
3. To enable students to understand the connection between social policy, poverty approaches, and the social worker role.
4. To introduce students to critical reflexive thinking, and the Critical Social Policy paradigm (Dean, 2012).

Module Learning Outcomes - at the end of this module, students will be able to:

1	Demonstrate an awareness of the political/theoretical values and assumptions upon which key social policies are based.
2	To apply their knowledge and understanding to a practice-scenario/case study example using a range of poverty-focused frameworks.
3	To show how approaches to social policy and poverty relate to the role of the social worker in Wales.
4	To demonstrate emerging critical, reflexive skills through the promotion of a critical social policy paradigm.

Assessment

Indicative Assessment Tasks:

This section outlines the type of assessment task the student will be expected to complete as part of the module. More details will be made available in the relevant academic year module handbook.

Assessment One: Essay exploring how the identity of contemporary social work is constructed. (1500 words)

Assessment Two: Reflective account showing consolidation of learning in Year One after placement. (1500 words)

Assessment number	Learning Outcomes to be met	Type of assessment	Weighting (%)
1	1, 2	Written Assignment	50
2	3, 4	Written Assignment	50

Derogations

- Two attempts only at each assessment.
- All assessments must be passed at 40% and above.
- This module cannot be trailed to the next level.

Learning and Teaching Strategies

The module will use a variety of methods for teaching & learning, including interactive lectures, student-centred group work via small group workshops, interactive discussion forums on Moodle, and a formal class debate. The principles of co-production will 'thread' through the module, with semester 2 developing the theories and frameworks for understanding poverty and policy further through the application of knowledge using case study approaches in a social work context. It is also hoped to have members of Outside In, the service user and carer organisation that informs and contributes to the Social Work programme, contribute to sessions.

Indicative Syllabus Outline

SEM ONE:

- What is social policy and what has it got to do with social work?
- Poverty and policy – what's the connection? Exploring poverty as a social justice issue (and not just about social exclusion).
- Poverty, policy and social work – the historical context.
- The Poor Law Amendment Act.
- The Charity Organisation Society: An individualized approach to poverty.
- The Beveridge report: social democratic approaches to poverty.
- Thatcherism, policy and social work: the neo-liberal agenda and the role of the social worker. Poverty as character flaw.
- Class debate.
- Wales, policy, and poverty approaches: The Social Services and Well-being Act (Wales). What's it got to do with poverty?

SEM TWO:

- Poverty-aware approaches/individualized/psychological approaches and the role of the social worker.
- What do social workers think about poverty?: ethics and practice – is it ok to ‘tweak’ the codes of practice if the end justify the means?
- What do individuals think about poverty? How do we hear their voices?
- Applying the Poverty-Aware approach.
- Reflection: Radical responses, social work organizations and the response to poverty.
- Assignment sessions.

Indicative Bibliography:

Please note the essential reads and other indicative reading are subject to annual review and update.
