Module aims

The aims of the module are to explore different entrepreneurial processes, concepts, theoretical models, and the role culture plays on how to start, develop, and manage a global venture. You will understand how environmental factors affect international entrepreneurship and discover how entrepreneurs make choices on a domestic & international level, including international expansion whilst looking at the global monetary environment in preparation to understand how a global business plan should be developed.

Module Learning Outcomes - at the end of this module, students will be able to:

1	Critically evaluate and interpret the issues, concepts, and relevant theoretical models of entrepreneurship in a global context.
2	Critically identify international opportunities for entrepreneurs to expand current ventures and critically discuss the environmental factors that may impact positively and negatively on the ability to develop those ventures.
3	Critically discuss the logistics behind the implementation and management of a global entrepreneurial strategy and demonstrate creativity and innovation through the development of a global expansion implementation plan.
4	Critically examine the impact of international venture failure, and make recommendations for improvement and success.

Assessment

Indicative Assessment Tasks:

Group Project (4,000 words)

Development of a poster presentation to guide domestic entrepreneurs on how to expand their current venture, globally.

Evidenced research of the different international concepts, issues & cultural considerations to global expansion referencing relevant models & theories.

Analysis of a suitable SME (domestic or global) and presentation of an international expansion plan.

Development of a global entrepreneurial strategy and the steps your SME organisation should take to become an international entrepreneurial company.

Learning and Teaching Strategies

The learning and teaching strategy will consist of formal lectures to present theory, principles and practices which will form the foundation of the learning outcomes. Students will be encouraged to interact and contribute to classroom learning as a means of developing critical skills, and to strengthen their knowledge and understanding of theory to practice. Lectures will be structured to encourage individual and group activities using real world case studies and live business examples enabling students to develop their collaborative, decision making, judging and evaluating skills, as well as key transferable employability skills. In addition, students will be encouraged to undertake self-directed study and further research on their chosen area of study, as well as related topics, to acquire additional perspectives which will provide them with a greater understanding of the business topics within organisations and the wider environment.
