2.4 Learning and teaching strategy

The delivery of the programmes and their assessment will reflect Wrexham University's Learning, Teaching and Assessment Strategy and with particular emphasises on:

- The development of autonomous learners.
- Provision of learning opportunities that are personally and professionally relevant and quality assured.
- The maintenance of a supportive learning environment.
- The promotion of the scholarship of teaching.

To this end a variety of learning and teaching methods are used in modules to facilitate and maximise learning and are designed to stimulate student enquiry and self-directed learning around the curriculum content.

The programme includes classroom-based strategies such as blended learning approach to interactive lectures and discussions, seminars and workshops, tutorial sessions and problem-based / case-based learning, synchronous and asynchronous sessions, Panopto supported by internet-based resources and use of the virtual learning environment (VLE) - 'Moodle' and MS Teams.

Active Learning Framework (ALF)

Synchronous and asynchronous teaching both online and on campus, within our active learning framework will be essential to our blended learning approach. The students will be expected to access the many resources in an asynchronous way, to complement their learning journey and their personal and employment circumstances. A key component of online learning and effective pedagogy is the construction of a community of enquiry (Garrison et al., 1999). The community of enquiry model supports a social constructivist approach and attempts to create an effective learning experience, through the adoption of the three interdependent elements – social, cognitive, and teaching presence. Critical thinking and a social presence will start in the classroom or simulation suite and continue in the discussion groups. The programme team will facilitate and direct the course of study to build the community of enquiry.

The Moodle café/discussion forums, case study groups, evidence-based practice discussion groups (to support the golden thread of research), will be used for an active learning experience, which will be supported through reading, watching and discussions, whilst ensuring the students through the programme, revisit their prior learning and develop this new context to reflect the spiral curriculum.

There is a wealth of experience within the Faculty of Social and Life Sciences of delivery through partnership with medical practitioners, pharmacists, on-line tutoring, work-based learning, assessment by portfolio, and the more standard, face-to-face teaching. In clinical practice an experiential strategy, including observation, guided practice and observed independent practice, will be used to meet the module outcomes. Completing the learning contract with the Practice Assessor will enable the student to select and apply their learning to the conditions for which they will be prescribing and working with Practice Supervisors to meet these learning opportunities.

Students are supported throughout the programme by the Programme Leader, who will also be an Academic Assessor to the students. They also provide both group and individual support to students in the production of academic work related to the module. The Academic Assessor will assess the student's suitability for award based on the successful completion of a period of practice-based learning relevant to their field of prescribing practice, supported by feedback on progression by Practice Assessors.

Practice Assessors and Academic Assessors will ensure that all programme learning outcomes are met on all NMP programmes, addressing all areas necessary to meet the RPS competencies. This includes all students successfully passing a pharmacology exam. This will be communicated to the Programme Leader and marks entered onto the student information system in readiness for the assessment board.

2.4 Learning and teaching strategy

On the V300 programme shared learning takes place with pharmacists, allied health professionals such as physiotherapists, podiatrists, paramedics, dieticians and radiographers and nurses in a highly enriched multi-professional programme.

2.5 Assessment strategy

NHS7D6

Formative feedback is provided on this module through sampling the student's formative academic writing and through group feedback on progress. Students who are struggling to achieve academic level, particularly those lacking study skills will be referred to study skills tutors or the wider student support services.

Where students are undertaking practice-based learning, portfolio development and OSCE practice assessment, DSMP's and Clinical mentors/ PA/PS will be expected to provide regular feedback on their student's progress and discuss with the Module Leader at the earliest opportunity, if a student is not making good progress. A tripartite action plan will be made between the DSMP/mentor/PA/PS, student and Module leader.

Formative feedback dates are also applied to all practice assessments, to ensure that all students have maximum support and opportunity to meet the assessment criteria. Feedback is provided on draft work in the form of written or verbal commentary and this will normally be at least 3 weeks before submission. Work submitted for formative feedback in the week prior to the summative submission date will no longer be reviewed due to its probable near completeness.

The summative assessment strategy provides a variety of assessment methods to enable the demonstration of programme outcomes, including knowledge and understanding, intellectual and subject specific skills and transferable professional development. As identified in module specifications, assessment methods demonstrate achievement of module learning and outcomes commensurate with the award.

The assessment strategy is student centred, with assessments designed so that students can select, a relevant practice focus. Assessment has also been designed to ensure that students have a feasible but relevant workload, with connections drawn between theory and practice throughout each module. In order to ensure equity and fairness, all assessments, including observations of practice are criterion referenced. Students will be provided with their assessment brief at the beginning of the module, in order to give them the maximum time to complete the assessment task. Theoretical assignments and portfolios will be marked against level 7 assessment criteria. Feedback on summative work is provided through Moodle three weeks following the hand in date.

V300

For the V300 programme the assessment strategy consists of a range of formative and summative assessment methods related to the programme outcomes, employed to test the student's knowledge, reflection, critical decision-making and application of theory to practice. Formative feedback is provided on academic writing and clinical decision making to enable student development and achievement of the assessment method in the modules. Formative feedback is provided by the Practice Assessor on an on-going basis in the PAD. Students use their reflective log in the PAD to record their on-going learning and progress.
